PROFESSOR PURYEAR'S SLEEPING-ROOM ROBBED .-- On Friday night Mrs. Puryear, wite of Professor Puryear, of Richmond College, was roused by hearing, as she thought, some one in her bed-chamber. She looked around and saw a negro man overhauling one of her trunks. She endeavored to rouse the Professor, but he was sleeping too soundly to be awakened until the thief had helped bimself to all that he wanted and gone into another room, from whence he escaped. On Saturday morning it was ascertained that a valuable gold watch and about $40 in money had been stolen.

THE FATE OF A PICKPOCKET .- Mention was made in the Dispatch on Saturday of the robbery of the person of David E. Lacy of a gold watch valued at $100, which occurred at the Fair Grounds on Friday last. Mr. Lucy's son saw the theft and told Detective Pat. Woods, who arrested Patrick McDermott, whom young Lacy identified as the thief. On Saturday the Police-Justice examined the case and sent the accused on to the Grand Jury of the Hustings Court, which meets to-day.

Assaulten - William Lucas, who was arrested on Friday, charged with feloniously assaulting G. W. King, a special policeman at the State Fair-Grounds, with a billet of wood, was examined on Saturday by Justice White, and sent to the Grand Jury for indictment. He was bailed in the sum of $500.

ORANGE BLOSSOM BEATEN .- The trotting race on Saturday afternoon at the Fair Grounds between W. A. Ogden's s. m. Lady Patterson and John A. McCaull's b. b. examination was waived and the accused sent | Orange Blossom was witnessed by a large on to the grand jury. Bail was allowed in number of interested spectators. The race was made up at the grounds on Friday for $500 a side, but the amount was afterwards reduced to $250. Lady Patterson won the race in two straight heats.

By this time a very large crowd bad gathered around the stand which had been erected on the south side the street, and the scene presented was a brilliant one indeed. Several rows of Chinese lanterns were stretched across the street, the stand was handsomely and appropriately decorated with the national colors and other flags, while at several points on the street bonfires blazed brightly, shedding a glow of light far and wide. There was a large number of colored persons at the meeting-indeed, many more than attended the Burgess meeting at the custom-

THE BURGESS MEETING SATURDAY NIGHT .-The Burgess followers assembled in front of the custom-house Saturday night. A band of music, two rows of Chinese lanterns, a huge American flag, about seventy-five white Conservatives and Radicals, and negroes, composed the meeting.

Mr. H. L. Pelouze presided, and addresses were delivered by Mr. Young of North Carolina and Mr. Rush Burgess of Richmond. Mr. Burgess was introduced as "the next representative in Congress from the Third district," and just as he was about to commence speaking Mr. Joseph Fuqua, formerly a member of the city police, came forward, declared that he had fought through the war in the Confederate army, and proposed three cheers for Mr. Burgess. The cheers were feebly given, and Mr. Burgess begun his speech by saying that he could easily account for the small attendance from the sudden change in the temperature and the fact that it was Saturday night and that all good citizens were preparing for their Sunday's dinner.

The meeting broke up just before 10 creatures.

Was I Treated "Fair "? Messrs. Editors Dispatch,-This being

my first experience at the Virginia Agricultural Fair, you will pardon me my asking for some information. I have been to a great deal of trouble and expense in selecting thoroughbred animals for my farm. By personal acquaintance and favorable circumstances I have succeeded in bringing to my place the best blood of Ayrshire cattle, Berkshire hogs, and Cotswold sheep, from New York and the New England States. Of course I was anxious to exhibit them at our Fair, and in order to secure good accommodations I went nearly two weeks before the 28th to the secretary' making provision for disposition of the fund. office, paid my fees, and had every animal making provision for disposition of the fund.

He told me that he was very sorry, and advised me to do the best I could . deed to purchaser, who has paid in full, and After getting back to the stalls I saw the gentleman in charge (Mr. C. Harman), who told me point-blank that there was no room for this Virginia stock, but that I might exa statement of the retail city market prices hibit my Berkshires in crates, and that be would try to get my Ayrshires in open fence among the sheep. There being among my Berkshires a sow with nine young pigs, and my stock generally being too valuable and expensive to be exposed in the open field in all kinds of weather, I thought it best to take the secretary's advice to do the best I could, and brought my whole atock back to my farm. Now, being within five miles of Rich mond, and having stock which, if exhibited, I am certain would have reduced the number of premiums taken away by other States, and having taken every precaution to secure good stalls; moreover, a day or two afterwards finding in the cattle departments stalls enough empty (i. e., occupied with straw, etc.,) to accommodate all my cattle, I cannot help feeling aggrieved at the treatment received at the Fair. If entering your stock in detail, either by letter or in person, and payper pound; North Carolina mullets, 25 to lng your fees cannot secure you any accommodation, what is the use of entering at all?
